

Rose Bowl Float Entry in 1959 Is Aim of Committee

Trailer Park Hearing Set for Monday

Hearing on application of Dr. Charles A. Reagan for a Palm Springs area trailer park opens at 10 a. m., Monday, before the County Board of Supervisors.

Supervisors will consider the proposed trailer park, plotted slightly beyond the end of Sunrise Way, at their regular weekly meeting in Riverside.

SIX OTHER desert area items will also be viewed by the board. These include:

Abandonment of public utility easements in Desert Sun Ranch Estates, No. 2; report of a variance approval permitting reduction of lot and rear yard by G. M. Neidhart, Cathedral City.

RECORDS OF survey on maps of Eugene Benvau, Idyllwild, and the Gagnon Co., Thousand Palms; recommendation for employment of additional help at the Palm Springs Judicial District Court.

Recommendation of county counsel to stipulate for judgment in case of County vs. O'Donnell Golf Club; and letter from the county counsel relating to the purchase of Cathedral City Fire Station.

'Accident Victim Remains on Critical List

Still in a coma two days after she was struck by an auto on Palm Canyon Drive, Katherine Troxel, 84, is today on the Desert Hospital "critical" list.

Mrs. Troxel, of Rancho Trailer Park, suffered a fractured skull, two fractured legs and internal injuries when she was hit by a car driven by Wolbert L. Seiler, of Victoria, Texas, Wednesday afternoon.

Witnesses said the woman had started to walk across the street in front of Bullock's, just south of the crosswalk, when she was struck by the auto.

Hospital officials said that Mrs. Troxel was apparently still in a coma, even though she opened her eyes early today. She was unable to recognize anyone, officials said.

Convict Tells 'Secret' Details of Murder

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UP)—A convict who claims he killed Marilyn Sheppard disclosed details of the murder that were never made public, it was reported today.

Statements made by Donald Joseph Wedler, 23, to a lie detector expert, were given to Lt. Gov. Paul M. Herbert, counsel for Dr. Samuel Sheppard, Cleveland osteopath serving a life term for his wife's murder.

HERBERT DID not give newsmen the unpublished details of the Sheppard murder that Wedler mentioned while being questioned by Alex Gregory, the lie detector expert, in Deland, Fla.

Sheppard himself will undergo a lie detector examination by Gregory, it was announced after Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill authorized the test on the basis of the "confession" made by Wedler.

In giving Gregory permission to question Sheppard with lie-detecting equipment, O'Neill over-

Railroad History Is Being Made by Village Machinist

By AL LE ANCE

Working under a full head of steam, Machinist Alfred Lorentson is today welding together a project that might someday make its own peculiar kind of railroad history hereabouts.

Lorentson, sole employee of Palm Springs only "locomotive works," is happily building the city's first home-grown railroad—a pint-sized replica of a 24-car train, circa 1865.

The keypoint of Lorentson's project is a handsome chunk of iron that will soon emerge as an authentic, scaled-down duplicate of a locomotive which 90 years ago puffed across the nation's rickety railroads.

FROM ITS pot-bellied smokestack to its carefully hinged firebox door, this steam-muscle midget measures only 39 inches long, stands 17 inches high and weighs in at 135 pounds.

"But it's not a toy," Lorentson noted, fondly patting its fat round boiler. "It develops about 100 pounds of steam and it'll pull a load weighing as much as 2,000 pounds."

Which, while it won't give Southern Pacific any complexes, easily puts this Lilliputian railroad in a class far removed from junior's play room.

LORENTSON WAS commissioned to build the locomotive, tender and 24 flat cars by Francis Crocker. Lorentson is the machinist at Crocker's Palm Springs Machine Shop.

Warfare Breaks Out in Oil-Rich Arabian Gulf

LONDON (UP)—Tribal insurgents rebelled against the Sultan of Muscat and Oman and seized "temporary control" of the interior areas of the oil-rich eastern tip of the Arabian peninsula, according to official reports reaching here today.

A foreign office spokesman said, "The situation is very confused at the moment. We have not heard from our consul-general since late Friday night."

The spokesman confirmed reports from Oman that the fighting is centered on Nizwa, about 200 miles inland from Muscat, the capital.

Crocker's Palm Springs Machine Shop.

"I don't know exactly what he plans to do with it when it's finished," Lorentson said. "He might use it as a model for manufacturing others, or put it up on tracks and run it here."

Lorentson started the locomotive and cars about six months ago. He works in his spare time, between regular company jobs.

Operating from plans based on a scale of 1½ inch to the foot, Lorentson is a stickler for detail. Every tube, valve, wheel and sprocket of the real locomotive is faithfully duplicated on the model.

LORENTSON DOES all the shaping, welding and machine work himself. Items that must be forged, such as wheels and trucks, are carved on wooden blocks and shipped to a foundry.

He doesn't know exactly how much it will cost by the time it's finished, but Lorentson pointed out that completed models of this type have brought as much as $5,000.

The train, scheduled for completion by June 1959, will be shipped to a foundry.

Police Search For Mother Of Slain Child

RIVERSIDE (UP)—Police searched today for a German war bride, believed to be the mother of a 5-year-old girl whose body was found "battered from head to foot."

The child was identified as Heirden Salbeig Nicholson. Her nude body was discovered Friday in a closet corner of a swanky motel where her mother, Mrs. Pelliccia Nicholson, 31, had registered two days before as the wife of a Santa Ana salesman.

The man, Harry Vern Gates, 40, was questioned for several hours in Santa Ana by Riverside officers. He denied any knowledge of the girl's death and said Mrs. Nicholson told him she had left the child with friends when the pair left Riverside.

Authorities in Santa Ana said Friday night they believe the woman was traveling with another man and apparently was trying to elude capture. They said her companion was probably unaware of the crime.

Mrs. Josephine Walniski, the housekeeper who found the battered body, told police she had cleaned the room and washed bloodstains from the washbasin before she looked in the closet.

Dulles Plans TV Address

WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles will make a nationwide radio-television address Monday night to outline U.S. views of disarmament.

Dulles' talk will be carried by the American Broadcasting Co. from 6 to 6:30 p. m., p. d. t.

COOPER DIDN'T PLAY IT SAFE, LIFTING SAFE

Chamber of Commerce Manager Jimmy Cooper is nursing a sprained back at home today—safe-lifting just didn't seem to agree with the chamber executive.

Cooper was trying to hustle an office safe from one room to another at the chamber building yesterday. He went home a few minutes later with a painful back sprain.

Local Association Has Dim Hope of 1958 Participation

Hopes for a Village entry in the 1958 Tournament of Roses parade appeared dim today but the Palm Springs Float Association optimistically viewed entrance in the 1959 Rose Parade.

Association officials reported that all 60 float spaces have been allotted for the Jan. 1, 1958, parade, but that five entrants have not qualified. Palm Springs is one of seven alternates.

However, parade officials told association President Theresa Press that "we can almost be assured a place if we make application for 1959 now."

MRS. PRESS SAID the association board of directors has agreed to go ahead on plans for 1959. Incorporation papers have been filed and plans are being formulated to promote the $15,000 float entry.

"If we have the money subscribed by June, 1958, we can proceed with conception of a winning float to represent Palm Springs," Mrs. Press said.

INCIDENTALLY, association officials pointed out that this will be the city's second Rose Parade entry. The first was in 1933 with a float labeled "A Sea of Sand from The Desert Playground."

The association asked that float contributions be sent to the organization's treasurer, H. H. Foster, 559 South Palm Canyon Drive. Checks should be made out to The Palm Springs Float Association.

Textile Union Calls Meeting

WASHINGTON (UP)—The executive council of the United Textile Workers Union called a "closed" meeting today with two top officers including one who admits they bought plush homes with $57,000 worth of union funds.

President Anthony Valente told newsmen the 20-man council was summoned to bring the union's bylaws in line with the AFL-CIO ethical practices code.

THE WEATHER

Desert area forecast: Mostly clear through Sunday but scattered afternoon cloudiness south portion. Slightly warmer afternoons. High temperatures today 95 to 105 upper valleys, 105 to 112 lower valleys.

Yesterday's high was 108; low 65.

Youth Arrested For Assault With Knife

Chuck Tyler, 23-year-old Palm Springs Roller Rink employee, was treated for two stab wounds following a fight near the recreation center last night.

In custody and charged with assault with a deadly weapon is Rufus J. Lewis, 18, who has been identified by the victim as the person with whom he had been fighting.

Although the weapon used in the stabbing has not been found, police said that they believed it to be a switch-blade knife.

FROM WITNESSES police put together the story of what happened, but not before they were sent off the trail by a false identification.

A 14-year-old boy gathered four or five additional boys, and in a group then went to the skating rink where the juvenile tried to start a fight with Tyler. Tyler refused to fight, and after an argument, Lewis allegedly struck

Peruvian Girl Selected As Miss Universe

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UP)—A stately, well-chaperoned, Peruvian socialite, Gladys Zender, 18, reigned today as the most beautiful girl in the world and the first Latin to win the annual Miss Universe pageant.

The graceful brunette wept unashamedly Friday night and had to borrow a handkerchief from the grinning master of ceremonies when last year's Miss Universe, Carol Morris, of Iowa, presented the successor with a red satin cape and glittering crown.

IN ADDITION to being the first contestant to win over 75 candidates with her South American way, Gladys may also be the first victor of the world wide pageant not to accept the prize of a $10,000 tour.

The new Miss Universe, 36-2½-36, daughter of a wealthy Lima paper manufacturer, has been reared in the old Spanish tradition.

SHE HAS NEVER been out on a date — only with groups of friends and always chaperoned. Her trip to Long Beach was the first time she had been out of Peru.

Two More Marine Reserve Units to Arrive Here Sunday

Two more Marine Corps Reserve units are due to arrive in Palm Springs over the weekend to begin their two weeks of annual summer training at the Marine Corps Base in Twentynine Palms.

The Citizen Marine units from Freemansburg, Penn., and Indianapolis, Ind., will arrive at the Palm Springs Airport on Sunday, from where they will be transported by bus to the base.

A third unit, from San Francisco, will come by train to Los Angeles, then motor across the desert, arriving at the Twentynine Palms base at 11 a. m. on Sunday.

THIRTEEN MARINE Corps Reserve units have received their two week active duty training at this high desert base and eight more are due to arrive before the summer training program is completed.

While on active duty at Twentynine Palms, these Marine Corps Reservists are afforded the opportunity to actually fire the weapons they train on all year back in their home armories, where there is no place to conduct actual firing exercises.

Residents Await Word From Dam, Hope to Return

CAPULIN, Colo. (UP)—Residents of this small San Luis Valley community waited hopefully today for word the danger of terrace reservoir dam crumbling was past and they could return to their homes.

The 400 residents of Capulin, five miles below the reservoir on the Alamosa River, and an estimated 600 others in the area were evacuated early Thursday when the earthen dam sprang a leak and threatened to loose 18,000 acre-feet of water into the southern Colorado Valley.

SAILORS TO BE SMARTER, NAVY RAISES STANDARDS

WASHINGTON (UP)—The Navy has raised its intelligence standards in an effort to speed the discharge of more than 15,000 sailors.

The Navy's action was prompted by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson's recent order reducing the manpower strength of the armed forces by 100,000. To comply with the directive, the Navy will have to cut 15,900 from its rolls by next January.

Navy Secretary Thomas S. Gates Jr. told Navy commanders to force the discharge of enlisted men with scores of less than 42 on the Navy's "General Classification Test." Highest possible score is 77; the Navy average is 48.5.

'Threatens Country's Security'

Letter to House Leader Released By White House

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower said today that this country's security would be "gravely" threatened by proposals to forbid foreign trials of U.S. servicemen for crimes committed on foreign soil.

The President made a special plea against enactment of such legislation in a letter to House Republican leader Joseph Martin.

"In my judgment, the passage of any such legislation by the Congress would gravely threaten our security, alienate our friends and give aid and comfort to those who want to destroy our way of life," he said.

THE WHITE HOUSE, in making the letter public, said it was requested by Martin in the face of legislative proposals growing out of the case of GI William S. Girard.

"I can think of no recent legislative proposal which would so threaten the essential security of the United States," the President wrote.

He referred specifically to a House joint resolution which would prohibit this government from turning over to a foreign government for trial any member of the U.S. armed forces on active duty abroad.

BUT HE ADDED that he would regard "as equally unfortunate any attempt to add the substance" of the proposed House resolution as an amendment to any other legislation. This was an obvious reference to attempts to add such legislation as a rider to the pending foreign aid bill.

The President said "It has been, is and so far as I can foresee will be our policy not to waive" the United States' primary jurisdiction over trials of American servicemen in cases where an alleged crime is "clearly" involved in "the performance of official duty."

NO WAIVER of primary United States "right to try has ever been given" where "performance of duty matter is clear."

"We cannot demand, indeed we should not ask, that for us alone our allies in the struggle to maintain world peace should grant extra-territoriality and completely surrender their rights of sovereignty over criminal offenses committed in their lands," Mr. Eisenhower said.

The Supreme Court ruled last week that the U.S. may turn Girard over to Japan for trial in the slaying of a Japanese woman scavenger.

Late News Bulletins

LONDON (UP)—Russia has placed a large area near the Siberian port of Vladivostok on the Sea of Japan "off limits" to foreign shipping and air travel, Radio Moscow reported today. No explanation was given.

MANILA (UP)—The Philippine army today threw 16 battalions of troops into an all-out, no-quarter drive against diehard Communist hicks who ignored a government offer of general amnesty.

DETROIT (UP)—Teamsters Vice President James R. Hoffa said no union funds were used in his defense against government bribery-conspiracy charges that he planted a spy in the Senate Rackets committee. He was acquitted of the charges Friday.

Carl Junghans, photographer known to Palm Springs circles, was awarded a gold cup for his entry in the print exhibit at the Western States Photographers' convention held last week at the Hotel Statler, Los Angeles.

New Keep Cool List Given For Hot Weather Sufferers

Here, as a public service, is our annual advice from our man who gets fed up with the usual rules on how to behave in hot weather and proposes a new keep-cool list.

By DOC QUIGG
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK — How to beat the heat—sensible steps you may want to consider.

Dress correctly. Clothing holds heat. Discard it and don a Pres-leyesque ensemble. Go to work wearing only sideburns and a low-slung guitar. If your co-workers get all shook up, their cool starts will help lower the office temperature.

Talk correctly. Avoid hot words and phrases like "income tax," "brush-off pitch," "Krushchev," and "Sonali Das Gupta." Say careful, cool, lulling things like "vacation in Norway," "Marilyn Monroe's skin tone," "hammock-time in Little America," ho-o-hum.

WORK CORRECTLY. Sit down. Lean back. Put your feet on a desk. Stare vacantly. Avoid pursing your lips, any muscle flexing produces heat. Don't even flex take along a personal air conditioner.

Be clever. When outdoors, tinker. Tie a small record player atop your head and keep yourself drenched with modern advanced jazz. It's cool, man.

Try psychology. Withdraw from the hot world. Try to imagine you're a cucumber in a shady glen. If your friends remark that you're turning green, you're a success. Tell 'em it's only your chlorophyll showing.

BE SCIENTIFIC. Use simple hydraulics. Keep a pail of ice water at your feet. Your blood makes a complete circulation of your body every 20 minutes. From time to time, put your toe in the pail and hold it there 20 minutes, ice-watering your system.

Eat properly. Food is heat. Avoid it. Instead, take frequent baths in a solution of water and equal parts of tranquilizer and pep pills. Save the solution for repeated use.

DRINK PROPERLY. Sample the air conditioning before you patronize the bar. Select a very cold bar, slap down a dollar, and order a hot buttered rum. The bartender's reaction may send you both to the cooler.

Be a scream. Meet a friend and say: "Know why it's warming up in Siberia? Because Khrushchy turned on the heat in the Kremlin." This kind of thing will cool off any friendship.

tion by the end of the year, will not be operated by remote control, like your youngster's electric train. This little monster requires an engineer-fireman.

"It burns coal just like the real one," Lorentson said, "and the engineer sits on the tender and operates this little throttle."

AN OUTSIDE GUAGE tells the engineer when he's got steam up, and a lever opens and closes the valves. The boiler is fed through a regular firebox door.

Building the train is a new experience for Lorentson who, at the age of 74, has been a top machinist in the United States and Canada for 35 years.

"I've always been a tool and die man," Lorentson explained. "I've never done anything like this before."

HE FIDGETED with a brass boiler fitting and tinkled the little bell behind the stack, proudly grinning at his handwork, which is "altogether out of my line."

"But nothing is tough in machine work for me," he explained. "and I like this—it is something different."

Lord Patrick Denies Rumors Of Engagement

LONDON — Handsome Lord Patrick Beresford returns to Dublin today, quieting for the moment rumors of his imminent engagement to Princess Margaret.

The 24-year-old lord flew here for a 24-hour visit Friday and told newsmen at the airport, "There is absolutely no truth to the story that I have come back here to announce my engagement to Princess Margaret."

The rumors which began at a garden party at Buckingham Palace Thursday finally got into print in London this morning, 36 hours later. British newspapers are traditionally careful about their coverage of the royal family and refused to print any word of the rumors that flooded London.

It wasn't until a Buckingham Palace press spokesman issued an official denial that the newspapers picked up the story.

"OLD 99"

The Road Of The PIONEERS

Thousand Palms Desert Rats—led by Harry Oliver, naturally—are campaigning again, this time for the revival of "Old 99."

Seems that the residents of this palm-studded community take exception with christening of the Freeway that superseded the infamous "Hell's 10 Miles."

This was the torturous, twisting, hump-backed stretch of narrow roadway known as a man-killer to motorists plying the route past Thousand Palms.

One remnant of the old highway still exists and the "Desert Rats" want that known as "Old 99, The Road of the Pioneers" as a reminder to travelers of the painful past.

Thousand Palms residents well remember the days of heavy death tolls, and they believe that prominently marked "Old 99" labels will help to slow cars down.

"We don't mind Riverside calling the new freeway Highway 60, and Redlands calling it Highway 70," the "Rats" announced, "but we want to call that remnant of the old highway just plain 'Old 99,' as it has been called for years."

Police Start Nationwide Search for Frankenstein

CHICAGO — Police conducted a nationwide search today for a teen-age "Frankenstein" in connection with the slaying of three Chicago schoolboys whose killer has never been found.

A Chicago police artist drew a sketch from descriptions given by a woman who saw a man annoying one of the slain boys in the Chicago Loop shortly before the murders. Copies of the sketch were mailed Friday to other law enforcement agencies in the country.

ROBERT PETERSON, 13, John Schuessler, 13, and his brother, Anton, 11, were killed two and a half years ago. Their naked and battered bodies were found in a forest preserve.

Terry Riley, Memphis, Tenn., said the sketch resembled the man he knew as "Frankenstein."

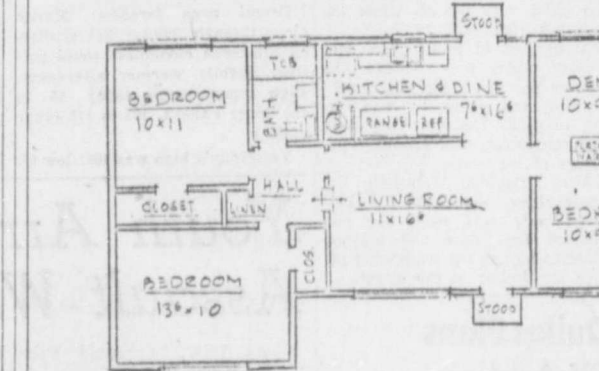

LT. JOSEPH Morris, head of the special unit seeking the killer, said boys in the neighborhood told police of a "large, peculiar character" who chased them.

The woman described "Frankenstein" as 19 years old with bushy blond hair and disproportionately large shoulders.

God Is Source Of Life, Says Science Sermon

That God, the source of all true life and intelligence, is ever available to humanity will be set forth at Christian Science services Sunday.

Scriptural selections in the Lesson-Sermon on "Life" will include the following from Psalms (131:1, 11), "Preserve me, O God; for in three do I put my trust. . . Thou wilt shew me the path of life; in thy presence is fulness of joy; at thy right hand there are pleasures for evermore."

Mary Baker Eddy affirms in a correlative passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," "Whatever is governed by God, is never for an instant deprived of the light and might of intelligence and life," (p. 215).

The Golden Text is from Romans (6:23), "The gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord."

The corn borer cost 199 million dollars in 1956, according to the U.S. Department of Agriculture. It destroyed about three per cent of the total corn crop.

IT'S TRUE THAT...

The Independent R. L. Polk official California automobile registrations show that again the BIG MERCURY leads the field in sales in its price class for 1957.

The BIG M "Dream Car" is the car the public wants. It's the car the public buys most. For MERCURY has combined high quality with reasonable cost.

For example: the 1957 MERCURY is the biggest, longest, widest, lowest, most powerful and safest ever built. And yet, the cost is just a few dollars above the lowest priced smaller cars.

See for yourself . . . the sparkling all-new MERCURY priced as low as $2775.00 complete with Merc-O-matic Drive, Heater and Defroster, Wheel Covers, Tinted Glass, Direction Signals, White Wall Tires, Back Up Lights, Foam Rubber Seats, etc., plus tax and license.

Riverside County Given $1,409,980 Credit in Savings Bonds Sales in 1957

Riverside County today was credited with contributing $1,409,980 to date to the more than $200,000,000 in anticipated sales of United States Savings Bonds in Southern California during 1957. The Riverside figure is for the first six months.

Both in new payroll savings plan sign-ups and in over-the-counter bank sales of these Savings Bonds, thrift programs are making headway which many economists regard as very satisfactory in view of today's tight money situation.

'Three Steps Up' To Be Sermon At Community

Sermon topic of the Rev. James Arnold, pastor of the Cathedral City Community Church, for this Sunday will be "Three Steps Up." Services are held at 9:30 a.m., plus a complete Sunday Church School for all children Nursery through Junior Department. Junior High and Senior High Young people attend the morning worship service.

Westminster Fellowship for all young people Junior High and Senior High ages is held at 5 p.m. at the church.

STRONG ADDITIONS in sales are being made throughout Southern California both under payroll savings programs and at banks, although they are generally off from record years and "easy money" periods.

Riverside County was 32.9 per cent down from the same six month period of 1956. In dollar volume, last years sales of United States Savings Bonds — E and H Series — were $2,102,078 at the end of June, said Thomas H. Holland, chairman of the Savings Bonds program in Palm Springs.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA sales for the six month period total $91,702,570. This is 14.8 per cent under January-June sales of 1956. Treasury officials report national Savings Bonds sales for the

EISENHOWER DISAPPOINTS FESTIVAL BACKERS

Residents of Norfolk, Va., where I visited recently showed great disappointment over President Eisenhower's failure to participate in the International Naval Review in Hampton Roads. The President's failure to attend the largest international affair of its kind ever held brought disappointment to those who participated in the review—which, by the way, was attended by Villager George Gannon.

Again, when Ike attended the recent Conference of Governors in nearby Williamsburg officials of the Jamestown Exposition had hoped that the President would make an official visit. They said that they believed the Jamestown Festival is an enterprise of sufficient national significance to command the President's attention and to merit at least a gesture of recognition by him.

Since the Jamestown Festival is co-sponsored by Great Britain along with the United States and the State of Virginia, an invitation has been extended to England's Queen to visit this country and participate in the occasion before it closes. Perhaps Ike will arrange to make an official visit to Jamestown at that time and win back the favor of those who were so greatly disappointed. Jamestown Festival celebrates America's three hundred and fiftieth birthday, along with the founding of Virginia, and will continue with an active program of events until the end of November.

HOLMES ALEXANDER:

"Wrapped in Concrete"

WASHINGTON, D.C. — In the U.S. Senate today there is proof that the Greeks didn't invent the art form which is called Greek tragedy. Greek drama, which has no villain except irony, and which has no plot except the ruthless collision of our poor, pitiful human endeavors to do the best we can is something that flows from life.

No invented story could match this natural clash of North and South, of Left and Right. No made-up characters could top the eloquence of Russell, the nobility of Byrd, the wit of Ervin, the seriousness of Stennis and Eastland, the rugged integrity of Douglas, the comic spirit of Chavez, the puzzlement of Knowland and Johnson, or the remote isolation of Mr. Eisenhower, who is caught in the swirl of passions which are beyond his protected understanding.

THE IRONY IS that so many of the nation's finest men, some of whose names appear above, seem to be in the role of suppressionists and race-haters. Nothing could be more untrue of the Southern Senators than that. The further irony is that this mis-called Civil Rights bill will rob Peter of even more rights than it pays to Paul. It is almost certain to halt, rather than expedite, the steady improvement in Southern race relations.

The ruthlessness in the retribution which this country is now paying for its bygone sins. It was brutal and inhuman of the white Europeans to capture Africans and for years thereafter to conduct a slave trade. We in America are now in the atonement period.

OUR FOUNDING FATHERS were wise enough to stop the slave trade, but not wise enough to abolish slavery in 1776. The unwise omission bothered nearly all of our great men in the early and middle years of the Republic. But our men were not great enough to end the curse that came near ending our Union. Today the same curse is part of the apparatus which threatens the life that remains in our republican form of government.

Will the wheels of this retribution grind on until this nation is pulverized and unable to offer a solid wall against enemies from without? It could happen that way. The antagonists in this civil rights battle are "wrapped in concrete." They say they will not budge one inch toward compromise.

THE TWO-PARTY system is caught between the upper and nether stones and both are suffering from it. The Republicans, with a chance to organize the South and take on national status, are stopped in their tracks. The Democrats, with their Southern conservatives and Northern radicals, are crucified upon this cross of paradox.

There is a large paradox and in it, perhaps, lies the only hope of a resolution. The right-to-vote bill is a good cause, but the right-to-vote bill is no good whatever. It has all the architectural grace of a set of gallows. The bill would appoint another commission. It would create another bureau in the Justice Department.

It would give arbitrary power to persons, notably judges and attorneys general. It would take power away from self-rule systems, notably the jury system and local sovereignty. This bill deserves about as much sympathy, support and admiration as an infernal machine.

BUT IT IS SO abominable that it may crack the concrete in which the contenders are imprisoned. Senator Knowland is floor leader for this Administration measure, but I'm not sure he's going to vote for it in the end. Knowland wants to break the procedural filibuster and bring the bill to debate with a vote in sight. But I think he will vote as he chooses, on the merits of the case.

The other floor leader Democratic Senator Johnson, will never—it's my belief—stand for abolishing trial by jury, this being the key provision of the bill.

IF THE TWO leaders bolt, the stampede is on. Already some of the legal-minded members are pawing the ground. Wayne Morse, whose allegiance to civil rights is beyond any question, has proposed sending the bill back to the Judiciary Committee for two weeks.

AS OTHER EDITORS VIEW THE NEWS

SIGNIFICANT SYMPTOM (Annapolis (Md.) Capital)

The American-Swedish News Exchange, New York, contains an item which has considerable significance, relating to the new ocean liner, "Gripsholm," sister ship of the "Kungsholm."

The Swedes are a maritime people and they are also highly proficient in manufacture, the production of high grade steel, in engineering research, etc. But this news agency says the operating company "was not able to finance the construction exclusively from its own funds, and therefore we had to turn to good friends of ours in the United States."

Why aren't the Swedish capitalists and entrepreneurs able to finance large industrial-business operations? Because taxes are so high, under the Swedish regime, that capital accumulations become almost if not wholly impossible.

High income taxes have not yet completely dried up American capital accumulations, but there are plain warnings, not only from countries such as Sweden, but from those who see the danger in this country.

AID FOR ALLIES

(Santa Ana (Calif.) Register)

... As Congressman James B. Utt recently commented, the jet planes we're sending Yugoslavia may very well wind up being used against American forces.

We suggest, if the powers that be in Washington insist they must support the "free" world against the threat of communism, certainly nothing would be served by sending military or any other kind of assistance to the Kremlin puppets.

Morse's x-ray mind goes to the heart of the bill's viciousness. He says that, "there will not be equal protection of the law under the bill because... rights are determined entirely by the pleasure, the whim and the caprice of the administrative officer who is given the unchecked power."

Frank Lausche, another Northern Democrat, is openly dubious of the injunction process in the bill. Joe O'Mahony, who was a New Dealer in his day, spoke so feelingly against the ethics of the bill that he drew a heart-felt tribute of thanks from the Southern, Spessard Holland.

It is out of its own evil that this bill may at last fail and drop the curtain upon this superhuman tragedy.

Letters

Desert Sun:

I was grieved to read of the killing of an innocent skunk in Palm Springs recently, and would like to inform those guilty that the skunk is not a dangerous animal. It is a friendly, curious animal and will not spray anything unless it is cornered, attacked, or is forced to protect its young. It kills rats, mice, gophers and insects.

This plea to let the poor persecuted skunk live its life in freedom is in memorandum to my pet, "Nature Boy," who loved every living thing and never used his natural weapon.

When I succumb to the persuasion of my fearful friends and had Nature Boy de-scented, his pride and faith was so badly shaken that he disappeared.

I'll never know whether he just went into the hills or was killed because he had no defense against the enemy.

Everyone who knew Nature Boy loved him and missed him when he was gone.

My pet skunk was never tenced in and always came when I called him.

I hope you will publish a little story of him to save other skunks.

Thank you,

Sincerely,

THIS SIDE of The Sun

By Phat

Another piece on Our rapid growth. Of not to brag I am not loathe.

Every issue of The Desert Sun—well, almost every issue—contains news of the continued modernization or building programs and announcements of plans for new developments.

This reminded me of something I once had read so I dug up my old copy of "Little Araby," written by J. Smeaton Chase about 40 years ago.

I ACQUIRED the book just before I came down here, to gain a little pre-emptive on what I was coming in to. But the way things turned out, "Little Araby" wasn't much help.

You may be interested in a few excerpts from the book to know what Villagers of the era just before the 1920s were thinking and how different it turned out.

COMPARING Southern California as a whole with Palm Springs and the desert area, Mr. Chase wrote: "Southern California has been termed 'Little Italy' and I will call our desert portion 'Little Araby.'"

"Just as Italy attracts many travelers and Arabia appeals to few, so of the multitude of California tourists but few are likely to wish to visit the desert; and that is unfortunate for it too much peopled its (the desert's) charm would be lost."

That doesn't seem to be the idea today.

IN CHAPTER TWO, Mr. Chase remarks that "Village is a pretty word, though ambitious settlements are keen to disclaim the implied rusticity and to graduate into town or city."

"Palm Springs has no such aims and is content to remain far down the list in census returns. We decline to take part in the race for improvements."

"We seek no mail delivery but prefer to gather at the store at mail time. Electric lights? No thanks."

CONTINUING he wrote: "To build cement sidewalks would be a calamity. We may be dusty but dust is natural and we prefer it. Our streets are country lanes and who wants a country lane cemented?"

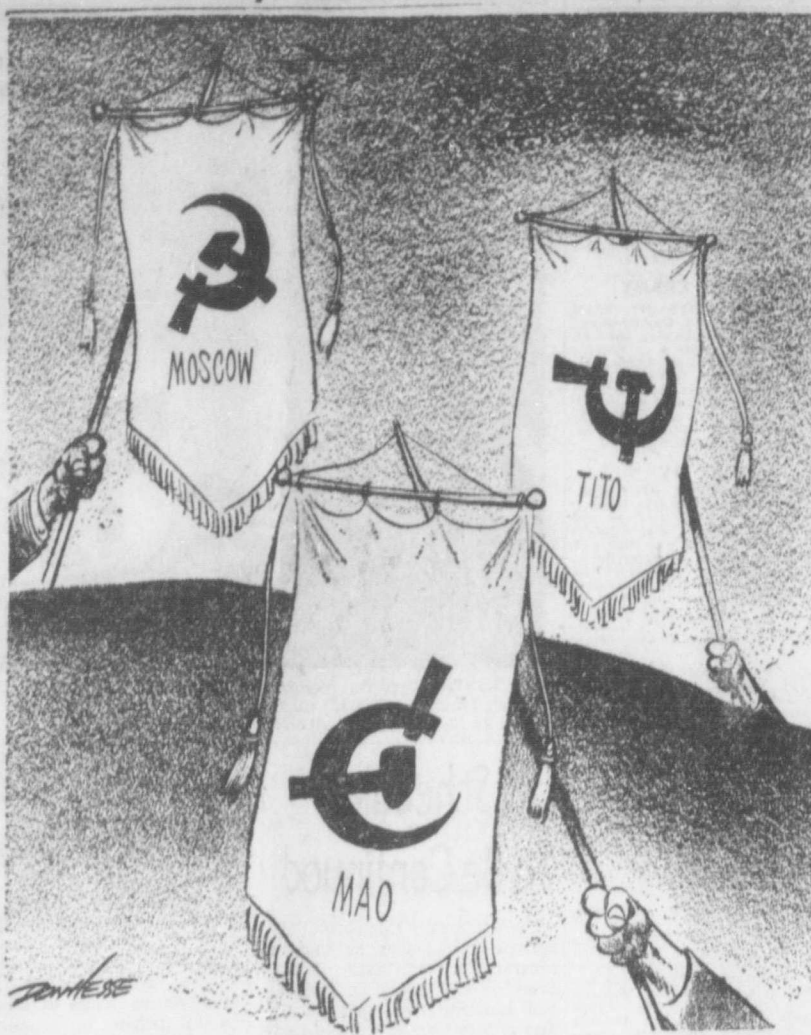

He thought the name of cottonwood and pepper-tree shaded Indian Avenue should have been Cottonwood Row and that Hot Springs Lane would have been better than Spring Street.

That later was taken care of—it's now Palm Canyon Drive which I think would have pleased Mr. Chase.

COMMENTING on the population of Palm Springs, two hundred, give and take a few, in winter and a handful in summer, he said the desert attracts many persons of high intelligence painters, writers, scientists, musicians and that the average quality of the population is high because "of the total absence of the hooligan element, sometimes in evidence at the seashore. To that class of people, the sands of Little Araby do not appeal."

OUTSIDE of that last comment, our thinking seems to have changed hardly in the past 40 years.

Just Depends on How You Look At It

INEZ ROBB:

Just About Time

So far I have avoided any mail, and I found myself hysterically wondering if I had a decent black dress to my name. Or if I could ever bake a decent loaf of bread, like Mama used to make. One of the widows in my growing library on the subject of widowhood barked herself back to normal life through the homemade loaf.

It is a well-known fact in the publishing world that books run in cycles. Ideas are in the air and highly contagious, as witness the decade of live-and-like-it comes to which the reading public has been exposed.

But the Polyanna cycle is running its course, apparently, and is to be followed by a Cassandra cycle. Within the past three weeks a half dozen books, all intent on preparing me for widowhood, have reached my desk.

Now I am not superstitious, but I am a little Irish. And the first volume dedicated to helping me adjust to widowhood seemed superfluous. In fact, in something bordering on panic, I rushed into the living room, thrust a thermometer into the mouth of the astounded head of Clan Robb, clamped my fingers on his pulse and begged him to speak to me.

"How can I, with this damn thing in my mouth?" he sputtered over the thermometer.

Three days later when the second book arrived, dealing with the social, financial, personal and emotional problems of widowhood, I began nagging Add to see the family physician and have a complete physical examination. I begged him to look both ways when crossing the street, to drive carefully and lie down for 30 minutes before dinner.

"Jimmy Walker said no one was ever ruined by a book," my husband reminded me.

I tried putting on a bold front, but I began slipping vitamins into his coffee and a tonic for tired hemoglobin into his scotch and soda. It made me feel better, even though Add said it was a crying shame when a man couldn't get a cup of decent coffee in his own home and that bootleggers must be back in the game and cutting the scotch again.

However, my peace of mind was short-lived. Two more books, exhorting me to deal logically with widowhood, arrived by the same mail, and I found myself hysterically wondering if I had a decent black dress to my name. Or if I could ever bake a decent loaf of bread, like Mama used to make. One of the widows in my growing library on the subject of widowhood barked herself back to normal life through the homemade loaf.

"What are you bawling about?" demanded the head of the house. "Because I can't make bread," I sobbed. "And I'll never, never learn to get along without you. What shall I do?"

He made several pungent suggestions, ending in a ukase that he would, in the future, open all books arriving at the house.

Well, sir, I've been feeling a lot better since then. But Add is looking quite peaked. The last book he opened, under the new house rule, is titled, "Your Family Without You," which the dust jacket boasts as "the best way to plan and arrange your affairs to assure the maximum income for your wife and children."

Happiness pills, anyone?

NEW YORK — Barbara Nichols keeps fighting it off but it's forcing itself on her and it's winning.

We refer to that mixed-up something-or-other so stiffly known as "stardom" and the word Barbara uses to describe about everything else also fits here. The word is "Crazy."

"Real crazy!" says Barbara, talking about the wonder of it all. "A year and a half ago I had so many bills. Now I got all my bills paid, and I got a new car. All of a sudden they got my name on a marquee and it's even spelled right. What happened to me anyway?"

"And the crazy part of it is I didn't even want it. I'm not one of these dedicated dames. If I don't get movie jobs, so all right, I'll work in a five-and-dime."

Barbara was a flop—she felt—a couple summers ago. Sid Caesar'd chosen her to work with Phil Foster as his summer TV replacement.

"I wasn't happy with Phil and he wasn't happy with me. I quit. I went out to Hollywood to do a stage show, called 'Joy Ride,' and everything happened. Crazy!"

"I think I can act as well as some of the other no-talent tomatoes in Hollywood. But the craziest things keep happening to me."

"I go on personal appearance tours. They get the limousine and a sign that says 'Barbara Nichols, Welcome to Milwaukee! The motorcycle cop's there. He loves it. He makes it into town in a half hour on the wrong side of the road."

"I go to the hotel and change real fast. I don't wear any underwear so I can change quicker."

"So then I'm interviewed by the local columnist and do you know what we talk about? About how great he was when he went to Hollywood to play in 'Teacher's Pet'!"

Barbara, the B.W. and I discussed all this the other night. Barbara's always been my idea of Taffy Tuttle—she played Taffy, a very smart dumb blond, on TV some years ago, until a network executive phoned in panic because her neckline was too low, and said, "Never use that girl again."

"I still have the problem," Barbara told us—she was wearing one of those off-the-navel dresses at the time.

"Crazy!" she said. "I have good legs but can't get anybody to photograph them. And if they do photograph them, they throw the picture away."

Barbara's recently practically stolen "Sweet Smell of Success," the new Burt Lancaster-Tony Curtis movie, and she's been back visiting her parents, the George Nickersons, in Huntington, L.I. Folks who remember her as Agathon, Dagmar's successor, on the sort of a frontpiece for a Cole Porter ballad, and I mean she's The Tops! ... This is one picture that'll be packin' 'em in this fall.

I wanted to run a line on the death of Alfred Linger the other day. His friends dissuaded me on the grounds that "Alfred wouldn't like it"—but I feel it's important to write a few words about this nice guy ... Linger was a top star in Germany before the war. However, he was Jewish. So the Nazis threw him into a concentration camp. Somehow he got out, broken in body and spirit, and somehow he managed to make it to Hollywood.

ACTING JOBS were few and far between for the once-handicapped, now crippled, actor. So Linger took up dramatic coaching. He fired some of our finest young actors (most of them are doing TV now) with his own fiery brand of acting.

Lauren Bacall Concentrates On Career, Children, Home

By ALINE MOSBY
United Press Hollywood Writer
Lauren Bacall has three things on her mind these days: Her career, her children and her house, but any other marriage is pushed out of sight at this time.

The slender, frank-talking actress sat cross-legged on the sofa in her den to tell how she is trying to adjust to being a widow with two children at 32.

The gossip columns, for one thing, have not been able to pin her with any "date." Since the death in January of Humphrey Bogart, she has dined only at the homes of friends or with old friends Spencer Tracy or Frank Sinatra.

"I'll probably never get married again because I can't go through this date business," she said. "I'm not good at making small talk. I like to talk directly to people."

"BESIDES, I've been in hibernation. I crave privacy more than anything now. I don't want to be one of those girls you see at parties all over town and people think they have nothing else to do."

She keeps busy answering fan letters, which recently have stopped mentioning Bogie's death. She has turned down numerous offers, such as to appear on cancer telethons and the Mike Wallace TV show. Currently she is determined "to concentrate on my career."

"Everything will be all right with me when I get back to work," she said. "I want to do a picture and then start another right away. I have a couple of things brewing at Fox Studio, and I'm ready!"

"I have ambition and now I have a chance for the first time to concentrate on a career. I've had Broadway offers but I want to stick to movies—and I had two good ones last year and I'm in a good position in films."

The actress also decided to continue living here because she doesn't want to move her children, 8 and 5, out of their schools. Unlike many stars, Lauren Bacall appears to be a devoted mother.

"LOOK, I WANTED those children and I have them," she said. "I have a sense of responsibility and a conscience. Being alone now, I have twice the responsibility. They must have security and peace of mind."

"Next fall I plan to sell this house because it will be healthier for all of us. I'll take another house with the idea of staying there for a couple of years but not for the rest of my life."

The sun-tanned actress puffed on her cigarette and then said, "I've a lot to be thankful for. I had 12 years with Bogie, and we had more good living in 12 years than many people who're married for 20. I feel sad mainly for the children, and for Bogie himself, because he wanted to do for them. 'I don't look ahead—you just have to live day by day.'"

"The important thing," she said thoughtfully, "is you have to make a life of your own. You can't sit back and wait. For what? You have to make your own place in the world."

Lee Ericksons Leave Today on Vacation Trip

Lee Erickson of The Desert Sun mechanical department, and his wife, Esther, who is the second and third grade teacher at Cathedral City School, today left on a seven-week vacation trip.

The Ericksons, who enjoy outdoor life, plan to get as close to nature as possible and are taking along their 16 foot travel trailer.

New Shape Set For Ironing Board

CHICAGO AP — The ironing board, one of America's oldest household articles, has undergone its first major design change in more than 90 years.

Arvin Industries, Inc., which introduced the new style board at the American Furniture Mart's summer show, describes it as having a straight front edge and an arc-shaped back edge.

The standard shape is symmetrical, broad at one end and narrow at the other.

This pattern has been used since 1867, when the first patents for ironing boards were issued.

The manufacturers say the new board provides about 28 per cent more surface area and has a maximum width of 18 inches, as compared with 15 inches for most boards.

Easy Dinner

Prepare your favorite meat loaf mixture. Pack it into an 8 by 11-inch loaf pan. After baking cut the loaf into six equal portions. Top each portion with a swirl of mashed potatoes. Place the meat squares and mashed potatoes under the broiler just long enough for the potatoes to gain a golden tinge.

Meat Salad Idea

Meat salads lend themselves well to serving as entrees during the summer months. As a quick meat salad idea combine pineapple chunks with cubes of cooked ham or veal. Add mayonnaise to moisten. Serve this mixture in a cantaloupe half.

If a fresh pineapple is not ripe when purchased, it will ripen at room temperature within a few days. It then should be refrigerated, wrapped well to prevent other foods from absorbing the pineapple odor. Ripeness test: the leaves will pull out easily.

STANLEY AND HERMINE Rosin are pictured in front of their hotel on Santa Catalina Island where many Palm Springs winter residents spend the summer months. The Rosins have a speedboat and spend a lot of time on the water and taking friends for trips along the shore of the island. Rosin's father was a pioneer of Santa Catalina. (Desert Sun Photo).

Pay Your Money and Take Your Pick of Evening Wear

By GAY PAUEY
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK AP—Pay your money and take your choice of silhouette, fabric and color in the new evening clothes.

Designers show skirts straight as a column, skirts with harem hemlines, skirts with short trains at the back but raised to mid-calf in front, skirts shaped like bells, lanterns or domes.

Necklines show just as much variety, although the accent for fall is on bareness rather than cover. The old-time favorite, black crepe, is revived for both short and long evening wear in designer collections being shown this week to visiting fashion reporters. The shows are sponsored by the couture group of the New York Dress Institute.

THE FLOWERS that usually bloom in the spring are blossoming throughout Seventh Avenue's fall lines. These include flower-printed brocades and taffetas, some of them in neon-bright colors, others in muted combinations.

Evening wear usually features glitter, but this fall there will be more than usual. It is a rare designer without at least one beaded, sequined or embroidered cocktail or evening dress in the collection.

TODAY'S SPORTS PARADE

By OSCAR FRALEY
United Press Sports Writer
Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Fearless Fraley's fairway facts and figures from the PGA golf championship.

The pro golfers try to maintain a poker-faced calm when they play in championship events, but beneath that stony exterior their nerves jump just like those of any hacker trying to run one down to win a 50-cent Nassau.

You can take that from Jay Hebert, who beat Doug Ford, 3 and 2, in the fourth round Friday. Jay had two putts from eight feet on the 16th green against Ford to close out their match.

"I STEPPED UP to that first putt and couldn't move the putter," he confessed. "I stepped away, gave myself a silent lecture, went back to the putt—and was just barely able to push the ball toward the hole."

The putt ran 18 inches past with Jay yelling "Whoa, whoa." Then, when he stepped up to tap that one in, he attested that "those 18 inches looked like 18 yards."

Jay and his brother, Lionel, who had hoped to meet in the semi-finals, played each other once. That was in their home town of Lafayette, La., and the younger Lionel piled up a five-stroke lead on the front nine. Lionel then shot an even-par 36 on the back nine—but lost by one shot as Jay hit him with a six-under-par 30.

SUCH IS FAME: It was announced that Walter Hagen, one of golf's all-time greats, was at the PGA championship. At which a spectator at the 18th green observed:

"Hagen, isn't that the fellow who came back after being in an automobile accident?" Which probably wouldn't make either Hagen or Hogan very happy.

Claude Harmon, the 41-year-old Winged Foot pro, didn't anticipate reaching the quarter-finals, which meant that he had to stay at least for Saturday's consolation round for fifth place. So Friday night he had to go out and buy some new duds for himself and his 14-year-old son, Butch.

"I'm so nervous, I can't eat," Butch told his dad after "their" victory over Tommy Bolt in the fourth round. Claude just smiled—and ate a hearty lunch.

Hathaway-Buick vs. Boys Club.
Junior Police vs. Cameron Stars.

The Boys Club upset the league leading Junior Police, 7-4, and the second place Hathaway-Buick Braves won a 12-8 slugfest over the Cameron Stars to move a game closer to the lead in Little League action at the Polo Grounds last night.

In the first game, the Boys Club led all the way and sewed up the game with three runs in the third inning. Larry Larstead's two singles and a double paced the team as they scored all their runs in the first three innings and then hung on to win. The winning pitcher was Eric Teitelbaum.

THE JUNIOR Police never seemed able to get up enough steam to threaten seriously.

In the final contest, Hathaway-Buick came from behind twice to win. A seven run third inning rally overcame a four run Cameron Star lead. A double by Cliff Thalys sparked the comeback.

HOWEVER, THE Stars were not to be daunted. They came back with four runs in the next inning on doubles by Larry McFarland, Jim Marinko and Mike Louder, and went into an 8-7 lead.

The bottom of the fourth saw the Braves come back with five big runs on four doubles. The Stars were rallying again when the game was called on account of time.

Hebert, Burkema Take Spotlight In PGA Play

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — Lionel Hebert, trying to make a golfing gamble pay off, faced Walter Burkema and Don Whitl met Dow Finsterwald today in the semi-finals of the PGA golf tournament.

So the field in this 39 annual PGA tournament had narrowed down to three youngsters and the 38-year-old Burkema, considered one of the best match players in the business after the usual "Black Friday" had sent defending champion Jackie Burke, Sam Snead, favored Doug Ford, Tommy Bolt, Ted Kröll, Mike Souchak, Claude Harmon and U. S. Open champion Dick Mayer to the sidelines.

Hebert, who quit his job as a club pro at Erie, Pa., a year ago "in an attempt to go out and make a name for myself," was coming close to winning his big gamble. Only 29, and noted as a trumpet player when he attended Louisiana State University, he knocked out Souchak and Harmon in Friday's two 18-hole sudden-death rounds.

But in Burkema, he was meeting a player who always has been at his best in match play. The blond pro from Franklin, Mich., who won this PGA in 1953, has been in the finals of this tournament three times in the past six years. No golfer over his career span in the game has a better match play record.

Duke Snider Leads Bums to Within One Game of Lead

By MILTON RICHMAN
United Press Sports Writer

Duke Snider is talking to himself again and it sounds like money in the bank to the delighted Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Duke insists he does his best hitting only when he talks to himself at the plate. He began giving himself pep talks right after the All-Star game and take a look at the results:

He has hit seven home runs in nine games since then; his batting average has jumped 10 points to a season high of .282, and the rejuvenated Dodgers have won eight of their last nine games to climb within one game of the National League lead.

SNIDER PUT ON quite a show as the Dodgers swept their first double-header of the season Friday night by copping a two-nighter from the Cubs.

In the opener, which the Dodgers won, 6-3, in 10 innings, the Duke slammed a homer in the 10th, and then clouted his 23rd circuit of the season in the third inning of the nightcap to aid in a 5-3 triumph.

MILWAUKEE RETAINED its one-game lead with a 3-1 victory over the Giants, while Cincinnati defeated Philadelphia, 7-2, and Pittsburgh blanked St. Louis, 7-0.

The Yankees widened their American League lead to six games by mauling Cleveland, 9-1. Boston whipped the White Sox, 5-2; Baltimore topped Kansas City, 4-2, and Detroit beat Washington, 4-1.

Veteran Andy Paiko drove in all three of Milwaukee's runs with a pair of homers off southpaw Johnny Antonelli. His second home run with one on in the ninth brought lanky Gene Conley his third victory. Bobby Thomson produced the Giants' only run with a fourth-inning homer.

Giants to Get San Francisco Offer Today

NEW YORK (AP) — Mayor George Christopher of San Francisco arrived here today and said he was certain that the New York Giants will move to his city and the Brooklyn Dodgers to Los Angeles next year.

He said he planned to talk later today with Horace C. Stoneham, president of the Giants, and with Walter F. O'Malley, Dodger president. "I am planning to make an attractive offer to the Giants," Christopher said, "and I'm optimistic about it being accepted. I believe both teams will move and that it will be simultaneous."

He said he was prepared to appoint a citizens' committee which would guarantee the terms of his proposal.

Calhoun Wins Over Ballarin, Both Marked

SYRACUSE, N. Y. (AP) — Winner Rory Calhoun and loser Germaine Ballarin of France both were automatically suspended today for 30 days because of face cuts suffered in Friday night's bloody television fight.

Middleweight contender Calhoun, the 3-1 favorite, required 14 stitches on his left cheek and brow although he wound up with the unanimous 10-round decision.

The surprising Frenchman, with the luxuriant, drooping black mustache, who won the acclaim of the 1,447 fans in War Memorial Auditorium by leading in the first half of the bout, needed nine stitches on a deep gash in his left brow and three more on two lesser nicks in the same area.

LOOKING OVER THE PLANS for the expansion program of leading hotels on Santa Catalina Island are, left to right, Marshall Wright, vice president of Catalina Airlines; William (Bill) Behr-schmidt, manager of Las Casitas; Arthur Press, contractor for the bulk of building on Catalina; and Hall Wilson, representative of leading hotels and resorts throughout the southland. The men are

Press Construction Has Major Construction Projects On Santa Catalina Island As Well As in Palm Springs Area

Arthur Press, head of Press Construction Company, has been employed by P. K. Wrigley to handle new construction as well as remodeling of existing buildings on Santa Catalina Island, and the combined contracts are expected to run into millions of dollars.

First project, now under way on the island, is the addition of a lobby-recreation hall and swimming pool at the Las Casitas Hotel. The new building was designed by Architects Wexler and Harrison and is being constructed by Press Construction Company with a half dozen local sub-contractors handling plumbing, glass, electric and ceramic tile.

BUILDING ON Santa Catalina Island is a challenge to any contractor, mainly because every item that goes into construction must be shipped to the island by boat. There are no building services on the island such as transit concrete mix, lumber yards, etc., so the contractors must devise ways of doing things in mass production.

Press has developed a plan for handling the thousands of yards of concrete that will go into the building. Using a big mixer, it is loaded with cement, rock and sand by a skip loader. After the cement is mixed, it is poured into another skip loader which transports the cement to the place it is to be poured.

THE MAIN ELEMENT of building on the island is the saving or cutting costs caused by the necessary multiple handling of materials. Wheeling wheelbarrel after wheelbarrel of cement across a construction site can cost a great deal of money, and almost every piece of lumber that arrives on the island must be handled at least four times.

By the time that the next project is under way on the island, Press is hoping that he will be able to handle lumber tied in bundles to lower the tremendous cost.

Scheduled for the start of construction very soon is the new hotel which will be located on the street fronting Avalon Bay. This building was also designed by Architects Wexler and Harrison.

THE LAS CASITAS building additions, which not only include the lobby-recreation hall and pool, but also additional bungalows, are being built with the help of such local firms as Simsarian Plumbing, Palm Springs Glass and Mirror, Coast Electric, Indio Paint and Refrigeration, and Sam Hall Ceramic Tile.

Along with his many proposed jobs on Santa Catalina, Press currently has a half dozen big projects in the desert area, which include the Robert Kenaston home in the Desert Sun Estates, and other big homes at Thunderbird, Indian Wells and Deep Well Estates.
